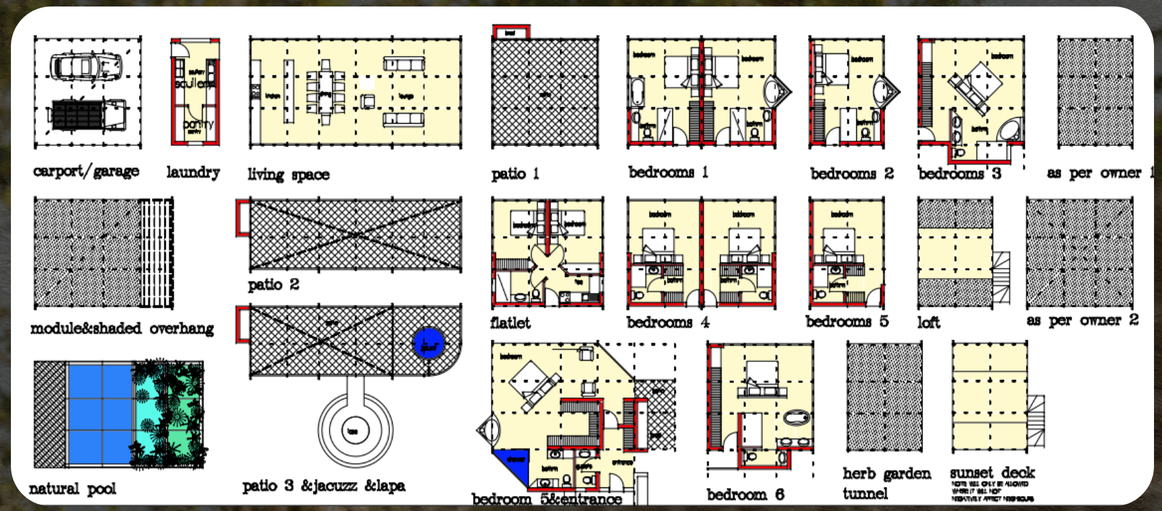
Geography Of The Units

The 52 individual designed units are thoughtfully distributed across the expansive 160-hectare estate to ensure maximum privacy, space, and an authentic bushveld living experience for each owner.



Selection phase: 1:100 large scale aerial maps are available of all units as for Unit 40, to allow viewing of the typology of each unit before a site visit. Once preferred units have been selected the positions can be viewed on site by arrangement to make the final selection.

Design phase: Once a unit has been selected, clients have the flexibility to customize their unit to fit in between the existing trees by selecting and combining from a range of modular structural design options to allow for personalised layouts that suits their specific lifestyle and preferences

This tailored approach combines design flexibility, environmental sensitivity, and exclusive low-density living, offering a unique opportunity for sustainable luxury in a natural setting, optimizing views, privacy, and harmony with the surrounding bushveld.
